

ADVOCATE ASHISH S. CHAVAN

Advocate Ashish S. Chavan has been practicing on the criminal law side since 1999, and regularly appears before the Bombay High Court, Sessions Court and various Metropolitan Magistrate Courts in the city of Mumbai. Advocate Chavan has successfully represented several corporate clients like Bennett Coleman and Co, Broadcast Audience Research Council (BARC) and Vodafone etc, leading doctors in medico-legal negligence cases, and as defence counsel in the sensational Adnan Patrawala murder case (2012), Chitrlekha magazine in the Tuff shoes obscenity case (2009) and the actress Yukta Mookhey during criminal proceedings in the Bombay High Court (2013). Advocate Chavan has also appeared in a PIL with respect to the functioning of the Maharashtra Human Rights Commission and a Writ petition that shed light on medical negligence by hospital managements and led to the framing of guidelines for the security of newborn babies.

Over and above his diverse and vibrant career as a practicing criminal lawyer. Ashish Chavan enjoys sharing his practical experience and wealth of knowledge across various learning platforms like the Rotary/Rotaract Club, the Association of Medical Consultants and Lawyersclub India. He has been invited to guest lecture at Government law College, and is visiting faculty at St. Xavier's College, Mumbai in the Diploma Program in Forensic Science and Criminal Law.

Advocate Ashish Chavan enriches the FACTS training programs with his extensive knowledge of criminal law and its practice in India. Through FACTS, he has developed and delivered lectures and training on the practical aspects of criminal law with respect to the understanding and implementation of IPC, CrPC and POCSO Acts, for professionals – both lawyers and police officers.